Short Description

Let's take a look at the Rolex II M126710-003 replica watch released by Clean Factory. We follow the rhythm and introduce this replica watch to you. This watch has a black dial and a metal strap. It is still a customized movement, and the style is also classic and simple, with subtle differences in details.

Description

Here is the new Rolex Clear Case Back GMT Master II M126710GRNR-0003 from Clean, a high-end watch with a transparent design provided by Clean Factory. The dial is also black, but the strap is different in details. You can see that the texture of the metal strap is thinner, smaller, and more delicate. I hope you will also like such different details, which further reflect your unique taste.

This watch shows a very high degree of simulation. During the processing, the craftsman used skilled techniques to create a finished product that is close to the original. Strive for you to own it, and every minute and every second of wearing it, you can immerse yourself in the beauty of slowly savoring the road of life. May this watch accompany you through more spring, summer, autumn, and winter.

Black part: The black part of the black-gray ceramic bezel is perfectly reproduced, and it is 100% matched with the original in terms of texture and tone.

Gray part: Compared with the original, the gray area on the Clean bezel is slightly darker, but it is a significant improvement compared to the gray of the 126713 model. The saturation of gray varies slightly under different light and angles, but the overall similarity is still over 95%. That's pretty impressive. Clean's color-matching technology has made significant progress in such a short time. Craftsmanship has been constantly improving, pursuing a higher level of replica craftsmanship.

Black and gray transition

The transition between the black and gray parts of the ceramic bezel is handled very naturally, very similar to the original, showing excellent craftsmanship.

Engraving details

If you look closely, the digital texture on the original is slightly more refined than that on the clean version, probably due to the silver engraving. However, this difference is almost imperceptible to the naked eye and does not affect the overall appearance. The overall look will definitely not disappoint you.

We believe that when you hold this watch in your hand, you will be immersed in the refinement and innovation of the clean new GMT Rolex GMT Master II M126710GRNR-0003, because this watch combines transparency, luxury, and precision craftsmanship, it will bring you a unique and elegant viewing experience.
